

About Arkansas Hunters Feeding the Hungry

Arkansas Hunters Feeding the Hungry (AHFH) is a community-minded program that provides venison and other wild game to those who are hungry. Individuals, organizations, businesses and churches are providing financial support and have joined farmers and hunters to transform an abundant white-tailed deer population into a renewable food source for the hungry.

AHFH has been responsible for processing more than 3 million servings of meat for soup kitchens and food pantries across Arkansas. These donated animals provide an abundant and nutritious source of protein desperately needed by feeding programs.

Deer: A Great Deal

Feeding agencies say meat is their least available food item because of its high cost. An average deer will yield about 50 pounds of venison. AHFH can turn this 50 pounds of meat into 200 servings. Even with the cost of processing, it's the best bargain in Arkansas.

How Venison Is Distributed

All meat is distributed free and is usually donated and used in the same county. It is served at churches, children's shelters, rescue missions and community food banks.

AHFH, a not-for-profit organization, was established in 2000 with four main goals:

- (1) Share the harvest of an abundant resource with Arkansans who are hungry.
- (2) Provide a much-needed FREE, low-fat, high-protein food source to the many feeding agencies and organizations across Arkansas.
- (3) Create a "Provider Purpose" for hunters who participate, allowing them to give back and share their blessings with others.
- (4) Partner with the Arkansas Game and Fish Commission to provide a solution for a healthy, balanced deer herd.

Get Involved

Donate venison. Take your legally tagged, field-dressed deer to a participating meat processor. Visit arkansashunters.org for the nearest processor or call 501-282-0006. Donate your entire deer or donate a few packages of burger. The processor will store the meat until it's picked up for distribution by a local food bank or feeding agency.

While AHFH primarily accepts deer, we gladly accept other game, such as ducks and feral hogs. We also accept cattle, and other farm animals.

Financial Support

AHFH needs your support. Please help offset the cost of processing venison to feed the hungry in your neighborhood. A contribution of any amount will help pay processing costs. Send a tax-deductible contribution to:
