The Honorable Sarah Huckabee Sanders, Governor of Arkansas, delivered remarks to the Joint Session of the 94th General Assembly after being sworn in as the 47th governor of Arkansas:

"Speaker Shepherd, President Hester, members of the Supreme Court, distinguished Members of the General Assembly, my fellow Arkansans:

It is an honor to stand before you as the 47th Governor, and the first woman governor, of the great state of Arkansas. I was 13 years old when I attended my first joint address back in 1996. Some of you may recall it was a pretty chaotic day. After getting lost in the surging crowd, I missed my dad's first big speech in this chamber. Today, I made sure to get here bright and early, and much to the surprise of those who know me well, I'm on time.

I'm grateful to be joined by my family: my wonderful husband Bryan; our three kids, Scarlett, Huck and George; and members of our extended family. Thank you all for being here.

We are also honored to be joined by former Governor Asa Hutchinson, former Senator David Pryor and his wife, Barbara. I'm thankful for their leadership and shared love of our great state.

As we gather in these storied chambers at the dawn of a new day, a turning point in the history of Arkansas will usher in a new era of good jobs, great schools, safer streets and stronger families.

The people of Arkansas, in their vast wisdom, have entrusted a new generation to lead. This is our moment. This our opportunity. And you and I are the leaders who the people have chosen to get the job done.

Our reasons for such high confidence and boundless optimism are many.

History teaches us that to every generation comes not only great challenges, but great opportunities – often in quick succession. After the upheaval of World War II, there were the decades of unparalleled economic growth. After the turmoil of Vietnam, stagflation and the gas lines of the 1970s, there was the peace and prosperity of the Reagan Era. After the financial crisis of 2008 and years of lingering stagnation, there was an unprecedented economic boom.

Like the rest of our country, Arkansas has weathered its share of storms in recent years: a worldwide pandemic, shuttered schools, crippling inflation and rising crime.

But here in Arkansas, that long night of hardship and heartache is breaking into a brighter tomorrow. If we seize this moment together, if we act on the principles we hold dear, we can make Arkansas stronger than ever.

I couldn't ask for better partners in this endeavor. President Hester, Speaker Shepherd – your partnership is the reason I know we will deliver for the people of Arkansas.

I want this legislature to know that as governor, I will always have an open door and an open mind. And like most of you, I don't care about getting credit – I care about getting results.

So this session, let us think bigger, act bolder, and do better than we ever have before.

With family budgets still battered by inflation, let's deliver another historic tax cut and give the people of Arkansas the pay raise they deserve.

Let's not surrender the competition for jobs to other states – let's cut taxes and bring jobs right here to Arkansas. And let's also cut wasteful spending so we can continue to phase out the income tax altogether.

The challenges we face in education did not appear yesterday. They will not be solved tomorrow. But we WILL get started TODAY.

I ask you to send me legislation that expands pre-K, improves literacy, and gives students real-world skills they need to succeed in the workplace.

Parents cannot be an afterthought in education. Parents are the foundation of a child's success. So let's give parents a greater role in education, including the right to choose the school that's best for their child – whether it is public, private or parochial. When we give parents a choice, we give children a chance.

In these endeavors, I will be guided by clear principles – principles I know you share.

Among these principles is the belief that the first responsibility of government is to secure the lives, liberty and property of its citizens. Any government that tolerates rampant crime has failed in its most important duty. As of today, Arkansas will tolerate crime no longer.

Together, we will build the prison space we need to keep our citizens safe. We will put more of our courageous cops on the street. We will shut down the crime wave that has plagued our cities. And we will teach our children that the badge is a symbol of justice, the police are a force for good, and our officers are heroes who are worthy of our highest respect.

There is so much more we can achieve as partners working together.

If you send me legislation promoting adoption or improving foster care, I will sign it. If you send me a bill defending the right to free speech, or the right to keep and bear arms, I will sign it. If you send me a bill that rewards our teachers with higher pay, I will sign it.

But if you send me legislation that grows government at the expense of freedom, I will veto it without hesitation or remorse. As a mom of three kids, I have no problem saying no.

Today, let us reaffirm our commitment to a timeless American idea: that government exists not to rule the people, but to serve the people.

The special interests may speak loudly, but it is the voice of the people that we must hear and follow. They are the men and women who till the soil, drive the long hauls and run the restaurants. The people who work hard, give back to their communities and help their neighbors in times of need. The people who teach their children to love God, and to be proud of their country. They take responsibility for their actions – and they deserve a government that does the same.

A government that does a few things, and does them exceptionally well – that is the government they voted for, and that is what we must deliver.

Today, let us pledge that we will not rest until we have a government that is as good and decent and hardworking as the people of Arkansas.

I ask you to stand with me as we work for the state we love and the people we serve."

House reconvened after five (5) minutes.

The Senate reconvened after recessing for the Joint Session.

Proposed Revisions: Senator Hammer and Senator Tucker, December 2022

24.01 Introduction

The holding of public office is a public trust created by the confidence which the electorate places in the integrity of Senators who serve in the Arkansas Senate. Members of the Senate are expected to carry out their duties in a manner that brings honor and integrity to the body. It is recognized that the part-time, citizen-based nature of the Arkansas General Assembly may create ethical dilemmas, but this does not nullify or diminish the Senate's expectation that Senators will make every effort to resolve these issues in satisfactory fashion and comply with these rules.

This Code of Ethics has been adopted to define the ethical expectations, provide a process for addressing accusations of ethical misconduct, and to provide for sanctions and penalties. The Code is adopted pursuant to authority granted by the Constitution of the State of Arkansas for the Senate to be the sole judge of the qualifications of its members and to determine its own rules and procedures.

24.02 Definitions

SENATE JOINT RESOLUTION FOR AN AMENDMENT TO THE ARKANSAS CONSTITUTION TO CREATE AN IMPLIED WARRANTY OF HABITABILITY FOR ARKANSAS TENANTS AND PROVIDE PROTECTIONS TO ARKANSAS TENANTS.

Subtitle

A CONSTITUTIONAL AMENDMENT TO CREATE AN IMPLIED WARRANTY OF HABITABILITY AND PROVIDE PROTECTIONS TO ARKANSAS TENANTS.

BE IT RESOLVED BY THE SENATE OF THE NINETY-FOURTH GENERAL ASSEMBLY OF THE STATE OF ARKANSAS, AND BY THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES, A MAJORITY OF ALL MEMBERS ELECTED TO EACH HOUSE AGREEING THERETO:

THAT the following is proposed as an amendment to the Constitution of the State of Arkansas, and upon being submitted to the electors of the state for approval or rejection at the next general election for Representatives and Senators, if a majority of the electors voting thereon at the election adopt the amendment, the amendment shall become a part of the Constitution of the State of Arkansas, to wit:

SECTION 1. The Arkansas Constitution is amended to add an additional amendment to read as follows:

§ 1. Finding and intent of amendment.

It is declared that:

(1) Arkansas is the only state in the country where the nonpayment of rent and failure to vacate is a crime;

(2) Arkansas is the only state in the country without an implied warranty of habitability;

(3) Arkansas has not clearly codified the holding of Gorman v. Ratliff, 289 Ark. 332, 712 S.W.2d 888, denying a landlord the right to use self-help to evict a tenant without a court order;

(4) Arkansans have fewer rights than tenants in any other state;

(5) The right to a safe and habitable home for oneself and one's family is a core and fundamental right and the people of the State of Arkansas should be given the right to have their voices heard on this issue; and

(6) Over ninety percent (90%) of Arkansans support the enactment of an implied warranty of habitability.

§ 2. Failure to pay rent and refusal to vacate not criminal offense.

The failure to pay rent when due shall not operate to forfeit the remainder of the lease term by operation of law, and subsequent failure to vacate after being given notice is not a criminal offense.

§ 3. Prohibited terms and conditions of rental agreement.

(a)(1) A rental agreement shall not require a tenant to waive or forgo a right or remedy established by this amendment.

(2) A provision in a rental agreement prohibited by this amendment shall be unenforceable and void.

(b) If a landlord seeks to enforce a provision prohibited by this amendment or accepts a tenant's voluntary compliance with a provision prohibited by this amendment, a court may award the tenant an amount not to exceed one (1) month's rent.

§ 4. Landlord disclosure.

(a) Before entering into a rental agreement, a prospective landlord shall disclose to a prospective tenant in writing the following information:

(1) Any condition of the premises that the landlord knows or should know on a reasonable inspection of the premises that would constitute a noncompliance under § 5 of this amendment and would materially interfere with the health and safety of the tenant or an immediate family member of the tenant;

(2) Whether, to the knowledge of the landlord, a foreclosure action or nonjudicial foreclosure proceeding has been commenced against the premises;

(3) Any rules affecting the tenant's use and enjoyment of the premises, whether adopted by the landlord or another authorized person;

(4) The name of the landlord;

(5) The name of and contact information for any person authorized to manage the premises;

(6) The name of and contact information for any person authorized to receive a notice or demand for the owner of the premises; and

(7) The address to which or method by which the tenant must deliver rent.

(b) A landlord shall update the information disclosed under subsection (a) of this section as necessary.

§ 5. Landlord duty to maintain habitable premises.

(a) In any residential rental agreement, the landlord has a nonwaivable duty to provide and maintain, throughout the period of the tenancy, premises that:

(1) Are safe, clean, and fit for human habitation; and

(2) Comply with the requirements of applicable building, housing, and health regulations.

(b) A landlord shall at all times during the tenancy maintain the premises in a habitable condition.

(c) Premises meet the habitable condition requirement of this amendment if:

(D) Maintained so as to provide safe drinking water and to be in good working order to the extent that the water supply can be controlled by the landlord;

(4) The dwelling unit has adequate heating facilities that conform to applicable law and are maintained in good working order;

(5) The dwelling unit has electrical lighting with wiring and electrical equipment that conform to applicable law and are maintained in good working order;

(6) The buildings, grounds, and appurtenances on the premises at the time of the commencement of the rental agreement are:

(A) Safe for normal and reasonably foreseeable uses; and

(B) Clean, sanitary, and free from all accumulations of debris, filth, rubbish, and garbage, and rodents and vermin;

(7) All areas under the control of the landlord are kept:

§ 6. Landlord noncompliance and tenant remedies.

(a) If the landlord fails to comply with the landlord's obligations under § 5 of this amendment and, after receiving actual notice of the noncompliance from the tenant, a governmental entity, or a qualified independent inspector, the landlord fails to repair the noncompliance within a reasonable time, the tenant may:

(1) Withhold the payment of rent for the period of the noncompliance;

(2) Obtain injunctive relief;

(3) Recover damages, costs, and reasonable attorney's fees;

(4) Make workmanlike repairs to the premises and deduct the actual and reasonable cost of the repairs from the rent, not to exceed the amount of three (3) month's rent during a twelve-month period; or

(5) Terminate the rental agreement on reasonable notice of the termination to the landlord.

(b) The tenant remedies under this section are not available if the condition of the premises was caused by a negligent or deliberate act or omission of the tenant or a person on the premises with the tenant's consent.

§ 7. Landlord's noncompliance as defense to action for possession.

(a) In an action for possession of the premises based upon nonpayment of rent by the tenant or in an action for rent in which the tenant is in possession of the premises, the tenant may counterclaim for any amount that he or she may recover under the rental agreement.

(2) The party to whom a net amount is owed shall be paid first from the money paid into the court registry, and the balance by the other party.

(d) If the defense or counterclaim by the tenant is without merit and is not raised in good faith, the court may order that the landlord may recover reasonable attorney's fees.

(e) In an action for rent in which the tenant is not in possession of the premises and does not owe any past due rent payments, the tenant may counterclaim as provided in subsection (a) of this section, but the tenant is not required to pay any rent into the court registry.

§ 8. Retaliatory conduct by landlord prohibited.

(a) A landlord may not retaliate against a tenant by taking an action described in subsection (b) of this section if the tenant:

(1) In good faith exercises or attempts to exercise against a landlord a right or remedy granted to the tenant by the rental agreement, municipal ordinance, a federal rule or regulation, or a state statute;

(2) Gives the landlord a notice to repair the premises or exercises a remedy under this amendment;

(2) A tenant may recover reasonable attorney's fees in an action for recovery of property damage caused to the tenant's property by the landlord.

(b) If a landlord unlawfully enters into a tenant's dwelling unit, lawfully enters but in an unreasonable manner, or makes repeated demands to enter into the dwelling unit that are otherwise lawful but have the effect of harassing the tenant, the tenant may recover actual damages or one (1) month's rent, whichever is greater, and reasonable attorney's fees and costs, and the tenant may:

(1) Seek injunctive relief to prevent the recurrence of the conduct;
or

(2) Terminate the rental agreement by giving the landlord notice in a court record that the rental agreement will terminate immediately or on a later specified date that is not later than thirty (30) days after notice is given.

§ 12. Payment of rent and rent increases.

"SECTION 1. DO NOT CODIFY. Legislative findings and intent.

The General Assembly finds that:

(1) Acts 2001, No. 236, § 9-34-201 et seq., otherwise known as the "Safe Haven Act", allows a medical provider, such as an emergency department of a hospital, a law enforcement agency, or a fire department to take possession of a newborn child thirty (30) days old or younger without adverse legal consequences to the parent if the parent voluntarily leaves the child with the medical provider, law enforcement agency, or fire department;

(2) There is a heightened need to encourage safe, voluntary surrenders of newborns whose parents determine they cannot care for them, even when the letter of the law is not followed;

(3) The more places that newborns can be safely relinquished for adoption without the fear of adverse legal outcomes to the birth parents, the better;

(4) There is a need to clarify that if a parent or child's identity is inadvertently released to the Department of Human Services, the same protections from liability shall be afforded to the parents when a surrender is made under this section;

(5) Currently, the Safe Haven Act does not address parental rights and recently, several recent cases have revealed issues resulting from ambiguous statutory language and no clear procedure existing to ensure due process protections; and

(6) There is a need to clarify when and how parental rights are terminated when a surrender is made under this section in an effort to expedite permanency for surrendered newborns while also ensuring the parents' constitutional rights are protected.

SECTION 2. Arkansas Code § 9-34-201(3), concerning the definition of "medical provider", is amended to read as follows:

(3) "Medical provider" means any emergency medically staffed department of a hospital licensed under § 20-9-214."

SECTION 2. EMERGENCY CLAUSE. It is found and determined by the General Assembly of the State of Arkansas that the current membership makeup of the Arkansas Social Work Licensing Board contains an unconstitutional racial requirement that requires the Governor to meet a racial quota when appointing members to the Arkansas Social Work Licensing Board when similarly qualified Arkansas citizens would not be considered to fulfill any open positions until the racial requirement has been met; that the practice of social work affects the public health, safety, and welfare, and the Arkansas Social Work Licensing Board is tasked with ensuring the public health, safety, and welfare through the regulation of the practice of social work; and that this act is immediately necessary to ensure that the open membership positions of the Arkansas Social Work Licensing Board be filled by a qualified citizen of this state, regardless of race. Therefore, an emergency is declared to exist, and this act being immediately necessary for the preservation of the public peace, health, and safety shall become effective on:

(1) The date of its approval by the Governor;

SECTION 11. EMERGENCY CLAUSE. It is found and determined by the General Assembly of the State of Arkansas that a municipal airport commission has the authority to manage, operate, improve, extend, and maintain a municipal airport and its related properties and facilities; that a commissioner vacancy on a municipal airport commission delays the commission's ability to vote on procurement matters and all other management and operational functions necessary to efficiently operate a municipal airport; and that there have been vacancies in the state that cannot be filled under the current commissioner appointment requirements established by law. Therefore, an emergency is declared to exist, and this act being immediately necessary for the preservation of the public peace, health, and safety shall become effective on:

- (1) The date of its approval by the Governor;
- (2) If the bill is neither approved nor vetoed by the Governor, the expiration of the period of time during which the Governor may veto the bill; or
- (3) If the bill is vetoed by the Governor and the veto is overridden, the date the last house overrides the veto."
