Senator Hester:

The attached spreadsheets are the data (from all the school districts) and the results of the correlation analysis.

The results reflect that the correlations are very weak and they are also negative.

First of all WEAK means that there is not much of a relationship between per-student funding (all funds) and achievement.

Secondly, NEGATIVE means that the higher the funding, the lower the achievement -- this is better understood if you think of it backwards: The lower the achievement, the more money we send these districts in order to try and combat the lower achievement numbers.

I hope this answers your questions; if not please let me know.

Hope you enjoy the holidays,
Richard
