

What is DSN?

Diamond State Networks is a middle mile network provider comprising the largest and most complete distribution of fiber optic internet services in the state of Arkansas.

What is a middle-mile network?

A middle-mile network serves as the backbone of connectivity for Internet Service Providers. This connection point allows distribution of high-bandwidth services to large numbers of people.

Benefits of a middle mile in Arkansas?

- 1

CONSUMER COST REDUCTION

By uniting statewide electric cooperative broadband networks, Diamond State Networks combines more consumer traffic than any other single network in the State. This creates the ability to purchase large connections at significantly lower cost.

RURAL BROADBAND GROWTH

Expansion of high-speed broadband has been delayed due to the lack of affordable connections available to rural service providers. DSN provides the fastest network in Arkansas to every corner of the state, at extremely low costs.
- 3

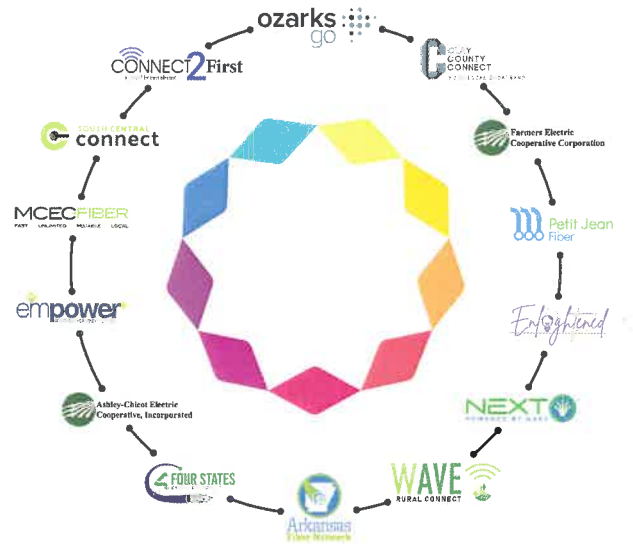

ECONOMIC DEVELOPMENT

Businesses establish locations based around access to high-speed broadband services. By empowering best-in-class networks around the state, rural communities in Arkansas become better positioned to attract businesses.
